

Katharine Giacalone, CPC, ACC
Author, Speaker, Executive Coach, Consultant
Presenter Bio

Katharine Giacalone, a human resources and management consultant for more than 25 years, has a well-earned reputation as a people-focused problem-solver for her clients. Through her extraordinary human relations skills and decades of real-world experience, Kathy has developed a common sense method of addressing management conundrums, believing that time and money are saved when communications are well-crafted from the get-go.

Kathy's professional milestones include serving as V.P. of Human Resources for Celera Genomics as well senior leadership roles at Marriott International. Since 2001, Kathy has led her own management consulting firm. Dubbed by a grateful client as The Corporate Nanny™, Kathy has adopted the moniker with her customary good humor. The Corporate Nanny offers organizational development consulting, supervisory training and executive coaching across a broad range of topics.

Kathy is the author of a fresh, humorous look at the challenges confronting mid-level managers, Oops! I'm the Manager! Getting Past "What Do I Do Now?!" in 5 Easy Steps. Kathy is a well-regarded speaker and a periodic contributor to respected trade journals. Kathy has an M.S. in Organization Development from the Johns Hopkins University, is a certified Executive Coach and a master trainer of thousands of leaders and managers across the US.
